5x5 TELECOM
INTERNET, CYBER, EDGE AI & MANAGED SERVICES

Solution brief · Connected Square Footage™ for building owners

Connected Square Footage™: the leasing advantage

Tenants use the lobby, courtyard, retail areas and other common areas like their own office, on their own network, at the same speed and security as in their suite.

From cost per foot to cost per person

Cost per foot

Tenants compare suites on what each square foot costs, and their own network ends at the suite door.

Cost per person

With Connected Square Footage™, the whole property becomes a place to work on the tenant's own network, so the question becomes what the space costs per person.

Why it helps you lease

A leasing advantage

Tenants get more effective space than the suite they lease, with the common areas working like their own office.

Help tenants attract employees

Companies can offer staff different places to work, outside, in the retail areas or in the lobby.

Their own network security

Tenants stay on their own office network anywhere on the property, with the same speed and level of security as in their office.

What we provide

Where tenants can work

- The building lobby
- Outdoor courtyards
- Retail areas
- Other common areas

What tenants get

- Their own office network across the property
- The same speed as in their office
- The same level of security
- A choice of places to work

Also for your building

- Fiber backbone installation
- Building-wide Wi-Fi
- First Connect move-in ready suites
- Full building network management

How it works

Tell us about your property

Tell us about your property, your tenants and the common areas.

Survey and plan

We review the property, existing infrastructure and service needs, and develop a plan with your team.

Install and manage

We install, test and activate the network, then manage it around the clock.

Turn the whole property into work space

Tell us about your property and we will be in touch to talk through Connected Square Footage™ for your tenants.

(866) 595-8353
thesmartchoice@5x5tele.com
5x5tele.com/connected-square-footage
24/7 US-based support